DWELLINGS AND CONTENTS.

The solid service long and successfully tried, and the many advantages the Hartford Insurance Company professes it has had to offer by those ready to insure against loss of property.

During "Stringent" times, the best security for reliable insurance becomes an imperative duty—the ability of policy holders to sustain loss being then much lessened.

Acrelins in all the principal cities and towns throughout the state. Policies issued without delay, by way of the most American agents in every city.

Agents intended to deal with depositors and fidelity.

DWELLINGS AND CONTENTS.

The solid service long and successfully tried, and the many advantages the Hartford Insurance Company professes it has had to offer by those ready to insure against loss of property.

During "Stringent" times, the best security for reliable insurance becomes an imperative duty—the ability of policy holders to sustain loss being then much lessened.

Acrelins in all the principal cities and towns through-

The Prospect of a Coalition.

The Southern politicians are very anxious for a union of all parties to beat Lincoln.

They are frightened at the prospect of his election, and are making strong appeals for a coalition to beat him. But these coalitions will defeat themselves. The people like a fair fight. They see at once that when men of opposite principles unite, it is nothing but personal animosity or a love of the spoils that cements the union. So, as fast as the coveted alliances are formed, honest fair minded men leave the coalitionists and join the republicans. We quoted yesterday from a southern paper to show that the south proposes to take the initiation in a rally upon one candidate, Breckinridge, to effect the defeat of Lincoln. We have now the opinion of another paper, on this point. It urges the north to make a coalition, but proposes to divide electors between the three contracting parties. The Augusta,

Georgia, Chronicle, says:

"To say the least of it, there is great danger of the election of Lincoln. To prevent it beyond a doubt, there must be a coalition of his opponents; and we think the most feasible plan is, for the opposition to let everything else go and devote their whole energies to the state of New York.

Her thirty-five votes, if they can be taken away from Lincoln, will defeat his revolutary party, even though he gets every other northern vote, and California he can not get. We have faith to believe that a union of the Bell and Douglas men in New York on one ticket would carry three hundred thousand votes, and Lincoln will probably not get exceeding two hundred and eighty-five thousand. But to prevent all uncertainty, we hope the Bell, Breckinridge and Douglas men will all unite on a common ticket and let the vote be cast, Douglas,

20; Bell, 10; and Breckinridge 5; or in fact, in proportion to the popular vote east for each. By such an arrangement Lincoln can be defeated, and by no other that we know of."

It will strike the reader that the Breckinridge faction are very liberal towards Douglas in this distribution of the electoral vote of the state of New York; but the game is a shrewd one on their part, notwithstanding

If the south can carry all the southern states for Breckinridge they will only want a few electoral votes in the north to elect their candidate; hence if they are able to get five votes in New York and some scattering votes in other states in a similar manner, where they cannot possibly get a single vote in any other way, they will elect their candidate. They can therefore afford to be liberal.

The Douglas men of New York, of course

see through this game, and hence all efforts to patch up a coalition have thus far failed.

The Breckinridge men, on the other hand, will use every effort to defeat the Douglas electors if they cannot have a fair share of them. If they see that it is impossible to elect their candidate for the Presidency, the next best thing for them is to secure the future control of the democratic party. This they will do, if no coalition is formed, by the destruction of the Douglas organization.

They will defeat them and endeavor to drive them out of the party, as was done with the barn-burners in 1848, while they will expect to whip them back into the regular or ganization in 1864, submissive slaves to the Breckinridge leaders. The Douglas men may look at the fate of Van Buren as foreshadowing their own, unless they now yield to the Breckinridge wing of the party.

They may say that there is enthusiasm for Douglas, and that there will be a spontaneous rally for him before November. So it was thought in 1848 in relation to Van Buren. There was greater enthusiasm for him than can be obtained for Douglas—there were three parties running at that time, and it was easy for an excited free soiler to figure up his election, but he did not get a single electoral vote. After the election he crawled back, he and his beautiful son, into the democratic ranks, where they have since been the basest kick-splitties of the slaves power. Stephen A. Douglas will do the same thing. He is known to be capable of

it. His own followers say that he wanted to vote for the English bill, at the height of the anti-Lecompton struggle, and would have done it had it not been for the brave Breckinridge, who threatened to denounce him in the senate if he did it. He is, therefore, capable of any treachery to his friends, and to the "great principle" which he pretends to be devoted to.

Wide Awake Organization.

The prevalence and popularity of this new organization throughout the free states has invested it with that interest which will render acceptable a notice of its origin and form of organization. The information we give is obtained from a circular of the corresponding secretary of the Hartford (Conn.) society.

The idea of an organization of this character was suggested by the appearance of three or four young men with glazed capes and caps in a torch-light procession which escort Cassius M. Clay to the hell in Hartford where he made a public speech on the evening of the 25th of February last. Acting on this thought, a company was formed, which first paraded 200 strong. On the 27th of March following, when Thomas Corwin spoke in Hartford, 2,000 fully equipped Wide Awakes paraded the streets of that city. From this point it spread all over the state of Connecticut, and was an efficient means in securing the republican victory at the state election.

The captain and lieutenants' uniform consists of an ivyless mantle or overcoat with cape, made of black enamel cloth, and glazed hat. The captain carries a red, and each Lieutenant a blue or green lantern. The privates wear a black enamel circular cape, quite full and of good length, glazed cap, and a swinging or fireman's torch.

Two pioneers, the tallest men in the company, carrying very large torches, are stationed on the extreme right. A few simple military movements constitute the drill.

The circular in question says:

"The organization is not intended alone for torch-light processions, but is also especially designed to co-operate in all the minutiae of political work, and to this end its members are detached off by streets; every street, lane and by-way in the city has a sufficient number of Wide Awakes to look after every voter, and those about to become such in that street, to arouse and keep actively alive all known republicans, and by arguments, documents, and all honorable means, secure the doubtful and wavering, and persuade the hostile."

Corruption and rowdyism on the part of the leaders furnish letters patent to the rank and file of every little democratic squad to be equally void of moral principle. When those who are in the van of any political organization become utterly indifferent to the great doctrines of righteousness, and are governed by mere policy or expediency, caring nothing for the furtherance of truth and the cause of humanity, looking more to the good of the people, it is certainly no marvel that among those who adhere to the party, right or wrong, the taint of moral corruption should become general. See how this indifference to principle is exemplified in the case of Mr. Douglas, who 'don't care whether slavery is voted down or voted up.' Here is the clearest evidence of demoralization. This 'don't care' doctrine will be the means of consigning the 'little giant' to a place on a salt river packet in November next.

Between either faction of the democratic party there is very little if anything to choose. Because there was not moral principle enough to cement the party, it has been torn asunder. Mr. Buchanan, in the last political speech which he proposes to make, (a welcome announcement,) regrets this 'unfortunate division.' But aside from those who will lose power and place and the emoluments of office through their manifold corruptions, few tears will be shed over the downfall of the president's 'great democratic party.' The inauguration of a republican administration is confidently believed will bring about a better state of things for this government, morally and politically.

Wide Awake Organization.

The prevalence and popularity of this new organization throughout the free states has invested it with that interest which will render acceptable a notice of its origin and form of organization. The information we give is obtained from a circular of the corresponding secretary of the Hartford (Co.) society.

The idea of an organization of this character was suggested by the appearance of three or four young men with glazed capes and caps in a torch-light procession which escorted Cassius M. Clay to the hall in Hartford where he made a public speech on the evening of the 25th of February last.

Acting on this thought, a company was formed, which first paraded 200 strong. On the 27th of March following, when Thomas Corwin spoke in Hartford, a band of 2,000 fully equipped Wide Awakes paraded the streets of that city. From this point it spread all over the state of Connecticut, and was an efficient means in securing the republican victory at the state election in April.

The captain and lieutenants' uniform consists of an evergreen mantle or overcoat with cape, made of black enamel cloth, and glazed hat. The captain carries a red, and each lieutenant a blue or green lantern.

The privates wear a black enamel circular cape, quite full and of good length, glazed cap, and a swinging or fireman's torch.—Two pioneers, the tallest men in the company, carrying very large torches, are stationed on the extreme right. A few simple military movements constitute the drill.

The circular in question says:

"The organization is not intended alone for torch-light processions, but is also especially designed to co-operate in all the infinite of political work, and to this end its members are detached off by streets; every street, lane and by-way in the city has a sufficient number of Wide Awakes in it to look after every voter, and those about to become such in that street, to arouse and keep actively alive all known republicans, and by arguments, documents, and all honorable means, secure the doubtful and wavering, and persuade the hostile."

"On election days, at each polling district the wide awakes are out in force, doing duty under direction of the executive committee, and immediate supervision of the captain, as distributors, checkers, challengers and especially as patrol-men, bringing every republican to the polls; in fact wherever the fight is hottest, there is their post of duty, and there the wide awakes are found."

A more detailed information in relation to the drill, the mode of organizing a club, and cuts, representing the style of uniform may be obtained by addressing H. O. Sperry, corresponding secretary of the Hartford Wide Awakes.

BRECKINRIDGE REACTS.—The Calumet Republican says Harrison C. Hobart, who was the democratic candidate for governor in this state last fall, is working with all his influence for Breckinridge. The Madison Journal learns, by a letter from the north, that Judge Cate, of the seventh circuit, has also declared for Breckinridge.—Judge S. N. Fuller, of Hudson, St. Croix county, late judge of the eighth circuit, publishes a letter averring his determination to support Breckinridge. These are important admissions to the "national" in Wisconsin, and the leaders are in great glee over them.

The Pittsburgh Gazette, a well posted and candid paper gives some quotations, showing how the democratic tide run in Pennsylvania, and thus sums up the matter:

"So far as we are enabled to see, the democrats of Columbia, Montour, Northumberland, Lancaster, Berks, Dauphin, York and Montgomery, comprising a very large portion of the democratic vote in the interior, will mainly support Breckinridge; while a majority in Philadelphia, the Willamette district, and western Pennsylvania, will support Douglas. This would give Douglas the preponderance over Breckinridge; but not so great an extent as is generally believed."

A FAIR OFFER.—The Mineral Point Tribune proposes to give the editor of the Douglas organ of that place one dollar a piece for every republican he can name who declares his intention to vote the democratic ticket in November, if the editor of that paper will pay him the same amount for every democrat he can name who proposes to vote for Lincoln and Hamlin next fall. Will he take the offer?

GET OUT OF THE WAY.—The New York Herald advises Douglas and Johnson to withdraw. It says,

"The best thing that Mr. Douglas and Mr. Johnson can do, and the best thing that Mr. Bell and Mr. Everett can do, in this crisis, for themselves, their friends and their country, is to withdraw from this presidential canvas, so as to remove all obstructions to a fair fight between Lincoln and Breckinridge, the only two candidates who will be heard of in the electoral vote of the Union."

POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY DEFENDED! READ!

"It is part of the history of the country, that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory more than five times the size of the state of New York. Under this doctrine slavery has been extended from the Rio Grand to the Gulf of California, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 35° 30', but up to 35°—GIVING YOU A DEGREE AND A HALF MORE SLAVE TERRITORY THAN YOU EVER CRADLED—Douglas' Speech."

HALIFAX papers state that over a thousand people are at work digging for gold in the Nova Scotia gold mines.

For the Daily Gazette.
The Demoralization of the Democratic Party.

One of the most convincing proofs that the democratic party, so called, is dying, and will soon be "dead, dead, dead," is the fact of its demoralization. It is certainly no slander to announce that democracy today is but the synonym of turbulence and political corruption. The proofs of this statement are so abundant that they cannot have escaped the attention of even the casual observer. The remark attributed to the Hon. Bailee Peyton of Tennessee, that the corruption of those in power at Washington was so great that "the man in the moon had to hold his nose as he passed over that city," though somewhat figurative probably, is yet highly significant. Truly, the present national administration, both as to its head and members, is a stench in the nostrils of the American people. The inquiries that have been made of late in congress concerning the acts of "an old public functionary" at Washington, and the doings of the treasury sappers generally, furnish good evidence that our statement is founded in truth.

This fact of demoralization was brought very prominently into view at the Charlton and Baltimore conventions. These gatherings were but a shame and a disgrace to the country. To witness a body of men convened in national council from the various states of this Union, disregarding common dignity and self-respect, descending to low blackguardism, bandying profane and vulgar epithets, dealing largely in threats of personal violence, and finally breaking up in a hot-headed strife and rowdyish confusion,—this is heart-sickening to all who have even a tolerable respect for decency, patriotism and the good of our common country. Certainly all who have the slightest regard for christian morality must look upon the conduct of these democratic leaders with disgust and abhorrence. Not only at Charleston and Baltimore do we find these evidences of moral recklessness;—modern democracy is the same elsewhere. The adage "as the old cock crows the young ones learn," is verified in the history of the democratic party.

Corruption and rowdyism on the part of the leaders furnish letters patent to the rank and file of every little democratic squad to be equally void of moral principle. When those who are in the van of any political organization become utterly indifferent to the great doctrines of righteousness, and are governed by mere policy or expediency, caring nothing for the furtherance of truth and the cause of humanity, looking more to their own selfish interests than to the good of the people, it is certainly no marvel that among those who adhere to the party, right or wrong, the taint of moral corruption should become general. See how this indifference to principle is exemplified in the case of Mr. Douglas, who "don't care whether slavery is voted down or voted up!" Here is the clearest evidence of demoralization. This "don't care" doctrine will be the means of consigning the "little giant" to a place on a salt river packst in November next.

Between either faction of the democratic party there is very little if anything to choose. Because there was not moral principle enough to cement the party, it has been torn asunder. Mr. Buchanan, in the "last political speech" which he proposes to make, (a welcome announcement,) regrets this "unfortunate division." But aside from those who will lose power and place, and the emoluments of office through their manifold corruptions, few tears will be shed over the downfall of the president's "great democratic party." The inauguration of a republican administration it is confidently believed will bring about a better state of things in the small towns, the population of some having increased, and that of others diminished; and so it will doubtless prove pretty much in every Atlantic state, but in the large cities we look for a uniform increase.

The returns from Maine so far, show an increase of nine per cent, in many districts over the census of 1850; and in Hartford and New Haven, Connecticut, and the other manufacturing towns of that state, the increase is about eleven per cent. The aggregate population of Connecticut will probably be 470,000. On the other hand, several manufacturing towns in Massachusetts have fallen off, such as Merrimac, Lowell, Hudson, and others. In New York and Pennsylvania, there is considerable variation in the small towns, the population of some having increased, and that of others diminished; and so it will doubtless prove pretty much in every Atlantic state, but in the large cities we look for a uniform increase.

The weather since the first of March has been so wet that I have not been able to take many walks or horseback rides. The vegetation under this moisture is pushing forward vigorously. You can have little idea of the beauty of these hills and valleys covered with the young, verdant crops.—The valleys are laid out in a succession of small fields, separated by a walk of turf only. The hills are pared down and shaped into garden-like patches. And these field gardens, for that is what their name signifies, are made to follow the natural shape of the hills. One will be a long graceful slope, another a terrace, another will be oval or serpentine, all separated one from the other by walks and banks and ridges of turf. This harmony of arrangement, with the surface outline, gives an indescribable air of repose and picturesque beauty. Then you see thickets of undergrowth, belts of evergreen oaks, forests of pine and cryptomeria. The latter is now in blossom.—What shall I tell you of the camellias, now in their full glory? In yard and wood and hedge, the fragrant crimson blossoms, peering out from the shining green leaves, make a gorgeous show. The American Consulate is on a hill, and is surrounded with a grove of evergreen oaks and camelia trees, and such a prodigal display there is there can be seen nowhere out of Japan. I can compare it to nothing but an apple orchard of glistening leaves, loaded with the brightest crimson apples. A flight of stone steps lead from the street up to the Consulate; it is arched over by these gay trees, and its stones are carpeted with the fallen petals. In the grove you may walk on a carpet of green and crimson such as your foot never trod before. As I stand in the door, whichever way I turn my eyes towards the hills, these leafy boughs are hung out. The wild blossoms are all single.

FLOWERS IN JAPAN.—A private letter dated April 7, from Mr. Hall of Elmira, N. Y., who is now in Japan, has been published in the Daily Press of Elmira. We make an extract:

THE WHEAT AND CORN.—There is reason to believe that the boasting in which most Illinoisans have indulged over the prospect of an enormous wheat crop is a little premature. About the usual area was sown, and the prospect of a bountiful yield seemed never to have been equalled; but the threshing now going on in various parts of the state has moderated the expectations of farmers: and in many cases, particularly in the central and southern portions, the promise of 25 or 30 bushels per acre seems to have been so far defeated by the drought and the thinness of the grain on the ground, that but 10 to 20 are realized. The quality, however, like the crop of last year, is admirable.

RAIL ROADS IN INDIA.—The English have already completed four hundred and thirty-two miles of railway in India, at an expense of twenty millions of dollars, and in two years, if the improvements already begun are finished, there will be ten times that number of miles of railway completed. Telegraphs accompany every line.

WHO IS THE "HAPPY MAN"?—The San Francisco Golden Era, of June 17, announces the marriage of Mrs. Burdell-Cunningham, in that city.

The Northampton Correspondent, a German organ of the democracy, published at Northampton, Pa., after having had the name of Stephen A. Douglas at the head of its columns for two weeks, has declared for Breckinridge and Lane.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, writing from Concord, N. H., estimates Mr. Lincoln's vote in the state at 38,500; Mr. Douglas at 31,000; and Mr. Breckinridge's at 2,500. He also gives a rumor that Ex-President Pierce has already engaged to address three political gatherings in the state before election.

The Port Huron (Mich.) Press makes the capital suggestion, that the Douglas and Johnson wing of the democracy use the language of Johnson for banners, viz:

"We believe that Capital Should Own Labor." That would be a truthful exposition of the principles of modern democracy.

CONNECTICUT POLITICS.—A correspondent writing from Norwich, Connecticut, says:

WHY NOT?—The democratic executive committee which met at Raleigh, N. C., on Saturday, the 14th, decided that it is unnecessary to call a democratic state convention.

The democratic split has made this state so sure for Lincoln that all excitement is quenched. It is amusing to see how the democrats run from any thing like a political argument; and the nearest approach to life is in the quiet congratulations of the republicans with one another.

MADISON EXCURSION.—It is expected that the excursion train, bringing from Madison the Band of Hope and a large number of the citizens of Madison, will be here on Monday morning next at about half past ten. They will be received by the Sunday schools of Janesville, at Patten's Grove; and it is hoped that not only the Sabbath schools but also the citizens generally, will turn out and give our visitors hearty welcome. A brief reception speech will be made by H. N. Comstock, Esq., to which response may be expected. Our band will escort the procession to the grove, and arrangements have been made for quartette singing on the grounds. Each Sabbath school will make its own arrangements for getting to the grove, but it is hoped that those who have carriages will be at the depot to assist in carrying the Madison children to the grounds.

WAITING TO SEE IT GO UP.—A countryman asked a wag in this city the other day what they proposed to do with the pile of lumber around which the large guy rope was fastened, and which steady the durik on Myers' new block. He was answered that they were going to hoist it on to the building. Country watched the pile nearly half the day, every moment expecting to see it go up. To what conclusion he came is not known. One thing is certain, he was bound to see it go up and didn't.

THE RAIN brought large numbers of people into town from the harvest fields this afternoon. A great deal of the grain has been cut, but little of it has been stacked.

FUN AHEAD.—It will be seen by referring to our advertising column that the celebrated Wood's Minstrels from New York, are to give two of their brilliant entertainments at Lappin's Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. They are said to be the best band of the kind in the world. See what the Chicago Press and Tribune says of them:

WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—This excellent troupe, than which not another has ever drawn fuller houses, or given more universal satisfaction here, closed their season at Kingsbury Hall on Saturday evening.

Wherever the boys go, we command them to all lovers of music and fun, numbered by that is coarse or low. They are, in their line, unsurpassed.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE.—Prof. Butler, of the State University, will preach in the Baptist church to-morrow morning and evening.

A LIBERAL OFFER.—The extraordinary sum of fifteen thousand dollars per annum has been offered by a well known liquor dealer of Chicago, for the saloon and bar of the new Sherman House.

RAIN.—There was a pretty steady rain during the forenoon of to-day, and the sky still indicates wet weather. What rain we have had will do injury if it clears off now.

MR. DOUGLAS IN THE SOUTH.—It is very evident that from day to day the little party in the South devoted to the interests of Mr. Douglas is diminishing, while that of Breckinridge is gaining strength from all sides. We dare say that all doubts of the full vote of the South for Breckinridge will soon be removed. We should not be surprised, indeed, if the popular sentiment of the South were to assume in a month or so a shape so decisive in defence of Southern institutions as to render an advocate of Douglas in that section an unpopular as a follower of Lincoln. The issue has already assumed, in several instances in the South, something of this complexion.—N. Y. Herald.

JANESVILLE (WIS.) HOUSE SHOW.—We return our thanks to H. M. Hale, secretary of the association contemplating an exhibition at Janesville on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of September next, for a complimentary ticket for the occasion. From the premium list before us, one would form the opinion that the exhibition will be well worthy attendance. The people of Janesville have earned the reputation of making all things in their town fully up to the things "set down in the bill."—Aurora Beacon.

A witty young rascal, in the state of Maine not long since, wanted some whisky, and knowing it could only be obtained by a physician, wrote himself an order—signing it with his own name, to which he learned M. D. was attached. He presented it at the drug store of a gentleman who, though unrecognized by him, proved to be an old acquaintance. "Hello, Frank," said he, "when did you get to be a doctor?" "I'm not a doctor." "Why, what is this M. D. to your name for then?" Frank saw he was caught; but determined to make the best of it, put on a very innocent look, and merely answered: "Oh, that's for Mighty Dry!" Of course he got the whisky.

A fellow, the other day, sold some clothing to a Jew. After the sale had been concluded, he said to him: "Do you know that they hang a Jew and a jassass together on the gallows, in England?"

"Well, no," was the rejoinder, "but ain't it a blessing that both of us ain't there, seeing that they might hang one on the account of his nation."

A pair of pretty eyes are the best mirror to shave by. "Yes," said a crusty old bachelor, "many a man has been shaved by them."

A brother lawyer once told John G. Saxe that a beard was unprofessional. "Right," said Saxe, "a lawyer can't be too bare-faced."

Telegraphic Synopsis.

The following is a synopsis of last night's telegraphic report: We have no report to-day.

Steamship Washington City arrived from Liverpool with dates to July 19th. The British government is said to have received intelligence of a fearful massacre of Christians at Damascus. 500 were killed, amongst whom was the Dutch consul. The American consul was wounded. The two vessels which passed over to Garibaldi are merchant steamers. It is confirmed that the steamer Veloce has passed to Garibaldi. Patriots are holder in Naples, and constantly traveling the streets. Moderate party full of apprehension. There has been a conflict between the troops and the people. Several persons killed.

Two omnibuses were racing at Syracuse, and a bolt coming out of one of them lit down, killing one passenger and wounding several others.

Five hundred Albany Wide Awakes went up to Troy in uniform to attend the dedication of a Wigwam.

Samuel C. Paxton, president of New York Corn Exchange Bank, died suddenly, yesterday, of congestion of the brain.

The shipment of specie to-day from New York amounts to a million and a half.

The republicans and democrats held a joint discussion at Bloomington, Ill., yesterday. Speeches were made by Allen and Ficklin, democrats, and Trumbull and Lovejoy. The meeting was very harmonious. About 4000 people were present. In the evening about two hundred Wide Awakes were out and the republicans held meeting.

An Irishman at Schaticee, N. Y., by the name of Whalen, yesterday, cruelly butchered his wife, to whom he had been married only a week. He is in jail.

Martha Allen, aged 17 years, died suddenly at Mansfield, Mass., and was buried. Circumstances led the coroner of the county order the body disinterred, when it was found that she had died from an attempt to procure an abortion. An inquest will be held. A young man in Mansfield has been arrested as instigator of the crime.

In the New York market yesterday, a little more was doing in flour, but market heavy. Wheat without striking change, Milwaukee club sold at 1.21.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Those desiring this safe and cheap protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company, it already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and partners among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

WHITE DEPENDENTS.—This demand that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented" we would certainly invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.
A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.

Messrs. Pidley & Harlow produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information concerning our various customers.

The Prospect of a Coalition.

The Southern politicians are very anxious for a union of all parties to beat Lincoln. They are frightened at the prospect of his election, and are making strong appeals for a coalition to beat him. But these coalitions will defeat themselves. The people like a fair fight. They see at once that when men of opposite principles unite, it is nothing but personal animosity or a love of the spoils that cements the union. So, as fast as the coveted alliances are formed, honest fair minded men leave the coalitionists and join the republicans. We quoted yesterday from a southern paper to show that the south proposes to take the initiation in a rally upon one candidate, Breckinridge, to effect the defeat of Lincoln. We have now the opinion of another paper, on this point. It urges the north to make a coalition, but proposes to divide electors between the three contracting parties. The Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle, says:

"To say the least of it, there is great danger of the election of Lincoln. To prevent it beyond a doubt, there must be a coalition of his opponents; and we think the most feasible plan is, for the opposition to let everything else go, and devote their whole energies to the state of New York. Her thirty-five votes, if they can be taken away from Lincoln, will defeat his revolutionary party, even though he gets every other northern vote, and California he cannot get. We have faith to believe that a union of the Bell and Douglas men in New York, one ticket would carry three hundred thousand votes, and Lincoln will probably not get exceeding two hundred and eighty-five thousand. But to prevent all uncertainty, we hope the Bell, Breckinridge and Douglas men will all unite on a common ticket and let the vote be cast, Douglas, 20; Bell, 10; and Breckinridge 3; or in fact, in proportion to the popular vote cast for each. By such an arrangement Lincoln can be defeated, and by no other that we know of."

"The Pittsburg Gazette, a well posted and candid paper gives some quotations, showing how the democratic tides run in Pennsylvania, and thus sums up the matter: "So far as we are enabled to see, the democrats of Columbia, Monroeville, Northumberland, Lancaster, Berks, Dauphin, York and Montgomery, comprising a very large portion of the democratic vote in the interior, will mainly support Breckinridge; those of the Tenth Legion," Lucent and Schuykill, will support Douglas; the central counties are about evenly divided; while a majority in Philadelphia, the Willard district, and western Pennsylvania generally, will support Douglas. This would give Douglas a preponderance over Breckinridge; but not so great an extent as is generally believed."

"A FAIR OFFER.—The Mineral Point Tribune proposes to give the editor of the Douglas organ of that place one dollar a piece for every republican he can name who declares his intention to vote the democratic ticket in November, if the editor of that paper will pay him the same amount for every democrat he can name who proposes to vote for Lincoln and Hamlin next fall. Will he take the offer?

Get Out of the Way.—The New York Herald advises Douglas and Johnson to withdraw. It says,

The best thing that Mr. Douglas and Mr. Johnson can do, and the best thing that Mr. Bell and Mr. Everett can do, in this crisis, for themselves, their friends and their country, is to withdraw from this presidential canvass, so as to remove all obstructions to a fair fight between Lincoln and Breckinridge, the only two candidates who will be heard of in the electoral vote of the Union.

POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY DEFINED! READ!—It is part of the history of the country, that under this doctrine of non-intervention, this doctrine that you delight to call squatter sovereignty, the people of New Mexico have introduced and protected slavery in the whole of that territory. Under this doctrine they have converted a tract of free territory into slave territory, more than four times the size of the state of New York. Under this doctrine slavery has been extirpated from the Rio Grand to the Gulf of California, and from the line of the republic of Mexico, not only up to 35° 30' but up to 38°—GIVING YOU A DEGREE AND A HALF MORE SLAVE TERRITORY THAN YOU EVER CLAIMED.—Douglas' Speech.

Half-a-penny papers state that over a thousand people are at work digging for gold in the Nova Scotia gold mines.

The last survivor of Bunker Hill is still living in Acton, Maine. His name is Ralph Farnam, and his 104th birth-day was celebrated on the 7th inst.

the anti-Leecompton's struggle, and would have done it had not been for the brave Broderick, who threatened to denounce him in the senate if he did it. He is, therefore, capable of any treachery to his friends, and to the "great principle" which he pretends to be devoted.

Wide Awake Organization.

The prevalence and popularity of this new organization throughout the free states has invested it with that interest which will render acceptable a notice of its origin and form of organization. The information we give is obtained from a circular of the corresponding secretary of the Hartford (Ct.) society.

The idea of an organization of this character was suggested by the appearance of three or four young men with glazed capes and caps in a torch-light procession which escorted Cassius M. Clay to the hall in Hartford where he made a public speech on the evening of the 25th of February last. Acting on this thought, a company was formed, which first paraded 200 strong. On the 27th of March following, when Thomas Corwin spoke in Hartford, a band of 2,000 fully equipped Wide Awakes paraded the streets of that city. From this point it spread all over the state of Connecticut, and was an efficient means in securing the republican victory at the state election in April.

The captain and lieutenants' uniform consists of an ivyress mantle or overcoat with cape, made of black enamel cloth, and glazed hat. The captain carries a red, and each lieutenant a blue or green lantern. The privates wear a black enamel circular cape, quite full and of good length, glazed cap, and a swinging or fireman's torch—Two pioneers, the tallest men in the company, carrying very large torches, are stationed on the extreme right. A few simple military movements constitute the drill.

The circular in question says:

"The organization is not intended alone for torch-light processions, but is also especially designed to co-operate in all the minute of political work and to end its members are detached off by streets; every street, lane and by-way in the city has a sufficient number of Wide Awakes in it to look after every voter, and those about to become such in that street, to arouse and keep actively alive all known republicans, and by arguments, documents, and all honorable means, secure the doubtful and wavering, and persuade the hostile."

"On election days, at each polling district the wide awakes are out in force, doing duty under direction of the executive committee, and immediate supervision of the captain, as distributors, checkers, challengers and especially as patrol-men, bringing every republican to the polls; in fact, wherever the fight is hottest, there is their post of duty, and there the wide awakes are found."

A more detailed information in relation to the drill, the mode of organizing a club, and cuts representing the style of uniform may be obtained by addressing H. O. Sperry, corresponding secretary of the Hartford Wide Awakes.

BRECKINRIDGE RECRUITS.—The Calumet Republican says Harrison C. Hobart, who was the democratic candidate for governor in this state last fall, is working with all his influence, for Breckinridge. The Madison Journal learns, by a letter from the north, that Judge Cate, of the seventh circuit, has also declared for Breckinridge.—Judge S. N. Fuller, of Hudson, St. Croix county, late judge of the eighth circuit, publishes a letter averring his determination to support Breckinridge. These are important accessions to the "nationals" in Wisconsin, and the leaders are in great glee over them.

"Between either faction of the democratic party there is very little if anything to choose. Because there was not moral principle enough to cement the party, it has been torn asunder. Mr. Buchanan, in the 'last political speech' which he proposes to make, (a welcome announcement,) regrets this "unfortunate division." But aside from those who will lose power and place and the emoluments of office through their manifold corruptions, few tears will be shed over the downfall of the president's "great democratic party." The inauguration of a republican administration it is confidently believed will bring about a better state of things for this government, morally and politically.

WHO IS THE "HAPPY MAN?"—The San Francisco Golden Era, of June 17, announces the marriage of Mrs. Burdell-Cunningham, in that city.

The Northampton Correspondent, a German organ of the democracy, published at Easton, Pa., after having had the name of Stephen A. Douglas at the head of its columns for two weeks, has declared for Breckinridge and Lane.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, writing from Concord, N. H., estimates Mr. Lincoln's vote in the state at 38,000; Mr. Douglas at 31,000; and Mr. Breckinridge's at 2,500. He also gives a rumor that Ex-President Pierce has already engaged to address three political gatherings in the state before election.

The Post Huron (Mich.) Press makes the capital suggestion, that the Douglas and Johnson wing of the democracy use the language of Johnson for banners, viz:

"We believe that Capital Should Own Labor." That would be a truthful exposition of the principles of modern democracy.

CONNECTICUT POLITICS.—A correspondent writing from Norwich, Connecticut, says:

The democratic split has made this state so sure for Lincoln that all excitement is quenched. It is amusing to see how the democrats run from anything like a political argument; and the nearest approach to life is in the quiet congratulations of the republicans with one another.

HON. E. B. WASHBURN.—This faithful and able representative of the people was re-nominated for congress by the 1st district convention of Illinois, at Rockford, on Thursday—receiving a majority of all the votes cast on the second ballot.

Martha S. P. Story, a child of three years of age, is giving musical entertainments in Boston.

Life is What We Make It.

On: life is what we make it, Lenore.

Depends on how we take it;

And that it seems;

Twit! just what we make it, Lenore.

What if the sky is clouded, my dear,

And hope's fair ray is shrouded

In folds of light,

And each delight

I ever with phantoms crowded, my dear,

I ever with phantoms crowded.

It will do no good to fret, my love,

For the sun will rise and set,

The world spin round

Its wondrous bound

The same as ever, and yet, my love,

It will do no good to fret,

There is much of joy, Lenore,

In the midst of life's alloy;

But oh! I ween,

We often gleam,

Only the things which annoy, Lenore,

Only the things which annoy.

And we're very apt to nurse, my dear,

Our troubles, which makes them worse;

We groan and sigh,

And long to die,

And our life becomes a curse, my dear,

Our life becomes a curse.

If life is what we make it, my love,

And we're so fond of索取 it,

We'll make it bright,

Fall of delight!

That is the way we'll take it, my love.

That is the way we'll take it.

We'll drain the chalice of life, Lenore,

And if it bitter, and life,

With care and fears,

And sighs of wearying strife, Lenore.

And sighs of wearying strife,

There yet will be a meane, my dear,

Of purest joy and pleasure;

So will be gay,

Put care away,

And life will then be a treasure, my dear,

Life will then be a treasure.

CORA MAY.

PROGRESS OF THE CENSUS.—As the different cities and towns are reported in the different cities and towns throughout the country, it would appear as if the increase of population will not be so great as was calculated upon. However, until the work is completed, it will be impossible to make any safe estimate of the result, for the returns show so many unexpected variations and apparent incongruities in several localities, that speculation is somewhat baffled. For instance, it would appear that Ohio, instead of increasing her population for the last ten years, as might be expected of that fruitful and prosperous state, has actually fallen off. Illinois, on the contrary, has increased in population nearly a million in the same time, which might account for the decrease in Ohio, a large emigration to the younger and more rising state probably having been progressing during the last decade.

The returns from Maine go to show an increase of nine per cent, in many districts over the census of 1850; also in Hartford and New Haven, Connecticut, and the other manufacturing towns of that state, the increase is about eleven per cent. The aggregate population of Connecticut will probably be 470,000. On the other hand, several manufacturing towns in Massachusetts have fallen off, such as Merrimack, Pelham, Hudson, and others. In New York and Pennsylvania, there is considerable variation in the small towns, the population of some having increased, and that of others diminished; and so it will doubtless prove pretty much in every Atlantic state, but in the large cities we look for a uniform increase.

From reports received at Washington, upon the progress of the census, it appears that the population of the United States is about thirty-two millions; yet we are disposed to think that it may run a little, though perhaps not much over that.—Y. HERALD.

THE WHITING CORN.—There is reason to believe that the boasting in which most Illinoisans have indulged over the prospect of an enormous wheat crop is a little premature. About the usual area was sown, and the prospect of a bountiful yield seemed never to have been equalled; but the threshing now going on in various parts of the state has moderated the expectations of farmers; and in many cases, particularly in the central and southern portions, the promise of 25 or 30 bushels per acre seems to have been far exceeded by the drought and the thinness of the grain on the ground; but that 10 to 20 are realized. The quality, however, like the crop of last year, is admirable.

MADISON EXCURSION.—It is expected that the excursion train, bringing from Madison the Band of Hope and a large number of the citizens of Madison, will be here on Monday morning next at about half past ten. They will be received by the Sunday schools of Janesville, at Patten's Grove; and it is hoped that not only the Sabbath schools but also the citizens generally, will turn out and give our visitors a hearty welcome. A brief reception speech will be made by H. N. Comstock, Esq., to which response may be expected. Our band will escort the procession to the grove, and arrangements have been made for quartette singing on the grounds. Each Sabbath school will make its own arrangements for getting to the grove, but it is hoped that those who have carriages will be at the depot to assist in carrying the Madison children to the grounds.

WAITING TO SEE IT GO UP.—A countryman asked a wag in this city the other day what they proposed to do with the pile of lumber around which the large guy rope was fastened, and which stands the durik on Myers' new block. He was answered that they were going to hoist it on to the building. Country watched the pile nearly half the day, every moment expecting to see it go up. To what conclusion he came is not known. One thing is certain, he was bound to see it go up and—didn't.

THE rain brought large numbers of people into town from the harvest fields this afternoon. A great deal of the grain has been cut, but little of it has been stacked.

FUN AHEAD.—It will be seen by referring to our advertising columns that the celebrated Wood's Minstrels from New York, are to give two of their brilliant entertainments at Lappin's Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. They are said to be the best band of the kind in the world. See what the Chicago Press and Tribune says of them:

Wood's MINSTRELS.—This excellent troupe, than which not another has ever drawn fuller houses, or given more universal satisfaction here, closed their season at Kingsbury Hall on Saturday evening.—Wherever the boys go, we command them to all lovers of music and fun, unmarred by that is coarse or low. They are, in their line, unsurpassed.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE.—Prof. Butler, of the State University, will preach in the Baptist church to-morrow morning and evening.

A LIBERAL OFFER.—The extraordinary sum of fifteen thousand dollars rent per annum has been offered by a well known liquor dealer of Chicago, for the saloon and bar of the new Sherman House.

RAIN.—There was a pretty steady rain during the forenoon of to-day, and the sky still indicates wet weather. What rain we have had will do injury if it clears off now.

Mr. DOUGLAS IN THE SOUTH.—It is very evident that from day to day the little party in the South devoted to the interests of Mr. Douglas is diminishing, while that of Breckinridge is gaining strength from all sides. We dare say that all doubts of the full vote of the South for Breckinridge will soon be removed. We should not be surprised, indeed, if the popular sentiment of the South were to assume in a month or so a shape so decisive in defense of Southern institutions as to render an advocate of Douglas in that section as unpopular as a follower of Lincoln. The issue has already assumed, in several instances in the South, something of this complexion.—N. Y. HERALD.

JANESVILLE (Wis.) HORSE SHOW.—We return our thanks to H. M. Hale, secretary of the association contemplating an exhibition at Janesville on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of September next, for a complimentary ticket for the occasion. From the premium list before us, one would form the opinion that the exhibition will be well worthy attendance. The people of Janesville have enhanced the reputation of making all doings in their town fully up to the things "set down in the bill."—Aurora Beacon.

A witty young rascal, in the state of Maine not long since, wanted some whisky, and knowing it could only be obtained by a physician, wrote himself an order—signing it with his own name, to which a learned M. D. was attached. He presented it at the drug store of a gentleman who, though unrecognized by him, proved to be an old acquaintance. "Hallo, Frank," said he, "when did you get to be a doctor?" "I'm not a doctor." "Why, what is this M. D. to your name?" Frank saw he was caught, but determined to make the best of it, put on a very innocent look, and merely answered: "Oh, that's for Mighty Dry!" Of course he got the whisky.

A fellow, the other day, sold some clothing to a Jew. After the sale had been concluded, he said to him:

"Do you know that they hang a Jew and a jackass together on the gallows, in England?"

"Well, no," was the rejoinder, "but ain't it a blessing that both of us ain't there, seeing that they might hang one on the account of his nation, and the other on the account of his nature?"

A pair of pretty eyes are the best mirror to show by. "Yes," said a crusty old bachelor, "many a man has been shaved by them."

A brother lawyer once told John G. Saxe that a beard was unprofessional. "Right," said Saxe, "a lawyer cannot be too bare-faced."

Telegraphic Synopsis.

The following is a synopsis of last night's telegraphic report: We have no report today.

Steamship Washington City arrived from Liverpool with dates to July 19th. The British government is said to have received intelligence of a fearful massacre of Christians at Damascus. 500 were killed, amongst whom was the Dutch consul. The American consul was wounded. The two vessels which passed over to Garibaldi are merchant steamers. It is confirmed that the steamer Veloce has passed to Garibaldi.—Patriots are bolder in Naples, and constantly traveling the streets. Moderate party full of apprehension. There has been a conflict between the troops and the people. Several persons killed.

Two omnibuses were racing at Syracuse, and a bolt coming out of one of them let it down, killing one passenger and wounding several others.

Five hundred Albany Wide Awakes went up to Troy in uniform to attend the dedication of a Wigwam.

Samuel C. Paxton, president of New York Corn Exchange Bank, died suddenly, yesterday, of congestion of the brain.

The shipment of specie to-day from New York amounts to a million and a half.

The republicans and democrats held a joint discussion at Bloomington, Ill., yesterday. Speeches were made by Allen and Ficklin, democrats, and Trumbull and Loveloy. The meeting was very harmonious.—About 4000 people were present. In the evening about two hundred Wide Awakes were out and the republicans held a meeting.

An Irishman at Schenectady, N. Y., by the name of Whalen, yesterday, cruelly butchered his wife, to whom he had been married only a week. He is in jail.

Martha Allen, aged 17 years, died suddenly at Mansfield, Mass., and was buried. Circumstances led the coroner of the county to order the body disinterred, when it was found that she had died from an attempt to procure an abortion. An inquest will be held. A young man in Mansfield has been arrested as instigator of the crime.

In the New York market yesterday, a little more was doing in flour, but market heavy. Wheat without striking change, Milwaukee club sold at 12½.

A brief reception speech will be made by H. N. Comstock, Esq., to which response may be expected. Our band will escort the procession to the grove, and arrangements have been made for quartette singing on the grounds. Each Sabbath school will make its own arrangements for getting to the grove, but it is hoped that those who have carriages will be at the depot to assist in carrying the Madison children to the grounds.

WAITING TO SEE IT GO UP.—A country man asked a wag in this city the other day what they proposed to do with the pile of lumber around which the large guy rope was fastened, and which steady the duric on Myers' new block. He was answered that they were going to hoist it on to the building. Country watched the pile nearly half the day, every moment expecting to see it go up. To what conclusion he came is not known. One thing is certain, he was bound to see it go up and didn't.

THE rain brought large numbers of people into town from the harvest fields this afternoon. A great deal of the grain has been cut, but little of it has been stacked.

FUN AHEAD.—It will be seen by referring to our advertising columns that the celebrated Wood's Minstrels from New York, are to give two of their brilliant entertainments at Lappin's Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. They are said to be the best band of the kind in the world. See what the Chicago Press and Tribune says of them:

WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—This excellent troupe, which than not another has ever drawn fuller houses, or given more universal satisfaction here, closed their season at Kingsbury Hall on Saturday evening.—Wherever the boys go we command them to all lovers of music and fun, unmixed by aught that is coarse or low. They are, in their line, unsurpassed.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE.—Prof. Butler, of the State University, will preach in the Baptist church to-morrow morning and evening.

A LIBERAL OFFER.—The extraordinary sum of fifteen thousand dollars rent per annum has been offered by a well known liquor dealer of Chicago, for the saloon and bar of the new Sherman House.

PAIN.—There was a pretty rain during the forenoon of today, and the sky still indicates wet weather. What rain we have had will do injury if it clears off now.

MR. DOUGLAS IN THE SOUTH.—It is very evident that from day to day the little party in the South devoted to the interests of Mr. Douglas is diminishing, while that of Breckinridge is gaining strength from all sides. We dare say that all doubts of the full vote of the South for Breckinridge will soon be removed. We should not be surprised, indeed, if the popular sentiment of the South were to assume in a month or so a shape so decisive in defence of Southern institutions as to render an advocate of Douglas in that section as unpopular as a follower of Lincoln. The issue has already assumed, in several instances in the South, something of this complexion.—N. Y. Herald.

JANESVILLE (Wis.). HORSE SHOW.—We return our thanks to H. M. Hale, secretary of the association contemplating an exhibition at Janesville on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of September next, for a complimentary ticket for the occasion. From the premium list before us, one would form the opinion that the exhibition will be well worthy attendance. The people of Janesville have earned the reputation of making all doings in their town fully up to the things "set down in the bill!"—Aurora Beacon.

A witty young scamp, in the state of Maine not long since, wanted some whisky, and knowing it could only be obtained by a physician, wrote himself an order—signing it with his own name, to which a learned J. D. was attached. He presented it at the drug store of a gentleman who, though unrecognized by him, proved to be an old acquaintance. "Hallo, Frank," said he, "when did you get to be a doctor?" "I'm not a doctor." "Why, what is this M. D. or your name for then?" Frank saw he was caught; but determined to make the best of it, put on a very innocent look, and gaily answered: "Oh, that's for Mighty Ory!" Of course he got the whisky.

A fellow, the other day, sold some clothes to a Jew. After the sale had been concluded, he said to him:

"Do you know that they hang a Jew and jackass together on the gallows, in England?"

"Well, no," was the rejoinder, "but ain't a blessing that both of us ain't there, seeing that they might hang one on the account of his nation, and the other on the account of his nature."

A pair of pretty eyes are the best mirror to shave by. "Yes," said a crusty old bachelor, "many a man has been shaved by them."

A brother lawyer once told John G. Saxe that he was unprofessional. "Right," said Saxe, "a lawyer cannot be too bare-faced."

Telegraphic Synopsis.

The following is a synopsis of last night's telegraphic report: We have no report today.

Steamship Washington City arrived from Liverpool with dates to July 19th. The British government is said to have received intelligence of a fearful massacre of Christians at Damascos. 500 were killed, amongst whom was the Dutch consul. The American consul was wounded. The two vessels which passed over to Garibaldi are merchant steamers. It is confirmed that the steamer Veloe has passed to Garibaldi. Patriots are bolder in Naples, and constantly traveling the streets. Moderate party full of apprehension. There has been a conflict between the troops and the people. Several persons killed.

Two omnibuses were racing at Syracuse, and a bolt coming out of one of them let it down, killing one passenger and wounding several others.

Five hundred Albany Wide Awakes went up to Troy in uniform to attend the dedication of a Wigwam.

Samuel C. Paxton, president of New York Corn Exchange Bank, died suddenly, yesterday, of congestion of the brain.

The shipment of specie to-day from New York amounts to a million and a half.

The republicans and democrats held a joint discussion at Bloomington, Ill., yesterday. Speeches were made by Allen and Ficklin, democrats, and Trumbull and Lovjoy. The meeting was very harmonious.—About 4000 people were present. In the evening about two hundred Wide Awakes went out and the republicans held a meeting.

An Irishman at Schatzieke, N. Y., by the name of Whalen, yesterday, cruelly butchered his wife, to whom he had been married only a week. He is in jail.

Martha Allen, aged 17 years, died suddenly at Mansfield, Mass., and was buried.

Circumstances led the coroner of the county to order the body disinterred, when it was found that she had died from an attempt to procure an abortion. An inquest will be held. A young man in Mansfield has been arrested as instigator of the crime.
